Ladies' and Children's Hosiery at Almost Half Price

This is a startling statement but nevertheless true. We are changing lot numbers on our stock, hence the great cut in prices. We have placed on our counters odd lots and broken sizes and have cut the prices nearly in half. The lines are all good and every pair of hose warranted. Who can afford to miss this opportunity?

The Final Summing Up

CONCLUSIONS IN STANFORD CASE BY VARIOUS DETECTIVES WHO HAVE GONE INTO THE MATTER—CHIEF SPILLANE AND ALL LEADING DETECTIVES EXAMINE THE TESTIMONY AND AGREE WITH DR. JORDAN.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—Last night all the evidence in the case upon which the detectives base their findings in the Stanford case was given to the public. The police verdict to the Stanford mystery is one that the California public deeply wished for. Whether from the testimony it will be agreed to is a different matter. The finding, roughly stated, is simply that Mrs. Stanford died from heart disease, brought on by an acute attack of indigestion which followed the picnic she attended at Honolulu on the last day of her life.

With this finding they candidly admit that they are satisfied with the report of the Honolulu chemists, and that undoubtedly strychnine did exist in the bicarbonate of soda which Mrs. Stanford took shortly prior to her death. Basing their conclusions, however, on the statements of doctors not parties to the case, they have decided that the amount of strychnine which Mrs. Stanford took was insufficient to kill her or even make her seriously ill. They explain away the symptoms of strychnine poisoning which she showed by the testimony of these doctors and openly attack the Coroner's jury, which returned a verdict that Mrs. Stanford died of poison.

At the same time Captain of Detectives Burnett says that he believes that at least one attempt was made on Mrs. Stanford's life by means of strychnine poisoning. The detectives will continue working on the case in a last effort to find out by whom and in what manner the bicarbonate of soda and the Poland water were dosed with deadly poison.

At midnight last night acting Chief Spillane, after running through the mass of statements brought from Honolulu, said: "Mrs. Stanford died of natural causes. I believe. It was likely heart disease."

Captain of Detectives Burnett said: "I have reached a conclusion now. I think she died of natural causes."

Detective Reynolds said: "Jordan and Hopkins got the straight of it. Mrs. Stanford died of natural causes. There was a lot of fat about her heart, which seems to show the cause."

Detective Edward Gibson said: "I think she died of heart disease, brought on by indigestion. There is what is called preponderance of evidence, and all of it points that way."

The evidence which these opinions have been based on consisted of over 150,000 words of stenographic testimony, the pith of which has already been given to the public. Detective Reynolds, during his stay in Honolulu, examined over thirty witnesses.

IN THE HOUSE

There was an air of placidity about the House this morning but whether it was the calm before the storm or not time alone could develop. At the opening it looked like a lazy day for a third of the seats were vacant when Chaplain Desha said prayers and the minutes were read.

Among the communications from the Senate was one respecting the "Infamous Punishments" bill which was reported having been read a third time with minor amendments. Senate Bills 82 and 95 were reported passed.

The Committee on Public Education recommended the appropriation of $1,500 for a school house, teacher's apartments and water tank at Kaunakakai, North Kohala.

The Committee on Agriculture and Commerce recommended the passage of the McCandless bill for the protection and encouragement of agriculture and forestry.

Likialani introduced a resolution for the appropriation of $211,000 for the purchase of Puna valley water rights. Kalawala introduced a resolution to instruct the Committee on Public Lands and Internal Improvements to investigate immediately, before further money is appropriated or expended by the Department of Public Works, all matters concerning the Waikakalana and Kipapa road in the district of Ewa.

Smith introduced a bill adding a new section to the Revised Laws respecting judgment in actions in which a claim of set-off is pleaded.

Orders of the day being reached, Sheldon's bill for the appointment of District Magistrates who must possess the qualifications of attorneys-at-law, came up for third reading. It failed to get the necessary 16 votes, by one and was lost.

TRADING STAMPS.

Harris' bill to prohibit the use of trading stamps, guessing contents and similar adventitious devices for the gaining of trade had a narrow squeak in getting through. It just got the necessary 16 votes, 15 going against it. Senate Bill 26, to provide a penalty for impersonating an officer or agent of the Board of Health passed third reading.

Senate Bill 70, requiring second hand dealers to procure licenses, passed third reading.

Senate Bill 77, regulating the payment of license fees, passed third reading.

Aylett introduced a bill providing for a license fee of one dollar for persons driving licensed vehicles. It passed first reading by title.

The House adjourned at 12:20 until Monday at 10.

HUNDREDS HEARD THE BAND

march as "tuneful" others less kindly, would declare it painful. But despite the criticisms the march made quite a hit and Captain Berger was warmly congratulated. The people at the wharf were humming the air by the second time the band had played it. It is far and away more musical than any of the previous marches composed by Berger not even excepting the famous "Oh You Governor Carter" march, an animated nocturne in strenuousness.

The Manchuria was the thousandth steamer that the band has played away so the march was played in her honor.

Among those who departed from Honolulu by the vessel were George H. Fairchild and family.

W. H. Hoogs left for a business trip to the mainland in connection with the dredging contracts of Lord and Belsor.

Mrs. Henry E. Highton left for a business trip to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Brown were departing Honolulu for a visit.

Mrs. H. P. F. Schultze left for a trip

HIGH OFFICIALS COMING HERE

COMMISSIONER OF LABOR NEILL AND COMMISSIONER OF IMMIGRATION SARGENT COMING.

Dr. Victor S. Clark, the representative of the Department of Commerce and Labor, who is here to prepare the material for the quinquennial report on the conditions of labor in the Hawaiian Islands, republished by the Organic Act, has received a cablegram announcing that Charles P. Neill, United States Commissioner of Labor, expects to arrive here April 21, for a visit to these islands.

This is a complete change in Commissioner Neill's plans, as he had not intended coming here this summer, though he has wanted to visit the islands for a long time. It is probable that he took advantage of an opportunity to accompany Commissioner of Immigration Sargent here.

Commissioner of Labor Neill who succeeded Carroll D. Wright in that office when the department of labor was changed from an independent division to a bureau under the Department of Commerce and Labor, has long been connected with the department, and is considered an authority on the matters with which his bureau has to deal.

The Supreme Court also adjourned for the March session, and will open the April session Monday. It was the intention to sit this morning and hear argument in the case of the Hawaiian American Dredging and Construction Company against Superintendent Holloway, but Judge Lindsay, who is to sit in the case, did not arrive in time.

Judge De Bolt appointed Cecil Brown guardian ad litem of David L. William F. Edith and Mary, minor children of the late H. D. Johnson. An affidavit by F. E. Thompson to the petition of E. I. IN THE SENATE

Senate Bill 99, the Dickey bill, to compel the enforcement of the law, was read for the second time, and McCandless moved to indefinitely postpone, because he said its passage would argue a want of confidence in the heads of executive departments.

Paris spoke for the bill, and Dickey disclaimed any personal purpose in the bill. It was not aimed at anybody. But there might be heads of departments who would wink at crime in the future. There had been, in the past, and it was advisable to have a law to reach them. And then the motion to postpone carried.

Senate Bill 90, to protect the food fisheries, was read for the second time and passed on the adoption of the report of the Judiciary Committee. It will be read for the third time on Monday.

Senate Bill 100, giving the Board of Health control and regulation of nuisances, passed second reading. It will be read for the third time on Tuesday.

Senate Bill 68, on second reading, was given to the Lane special health committee considering the leprosy bill. Senate Bill 68, provides for the appointment of a commission to investigate cases of alleged leprosy.

Senate Bill 105, to divide the Senatorial District of Hawaii, was read for the second time and passed. The bill will be read for the third time on Tuesday.

Senate Bill 66, on second reading, was tabled.

Senate Bill 101, to perpetuate testimony, was referred to the Judiciary Committee on second reading.

Senate Bill 102, relating to personal property taxes, was read for the second time and referred to the Ways and Means Committee.

Achil accused the Ways and Means Committee of holding up tax bills, and on a question of personal privilege Bishop denied this. The tax bills were held pending the fate of the County Act.

Senate bill 103, providing for the election of district officers was read for the second time and referred to the judiciary committee by which it had been introduced.

Senate bill 104 the Everyman's lien bill was read for the second time and referred to the judiciary committee, and then the Senate adjourned.

FLOUR AND PASTE.

Representative Sheldon has gone in to the flour business. With a view to introducing his product he presented every member of the House and Senate with a small bag this morning. The flour is to be made into paste for the purpose of sticking newspaper clippings of Coehlo's speeches in scrap books.

GOOD PROSPECTS FOR WATER.

J. S. McCandless has no doubt of his success at boring for water at Kanaa for the Oahu Sugar Co. People in Hilo believe that water will be found anywhere in that section since the fine springs have made their appearance on Front street—Hawaii Herald.

MAGDOON DEMURS.

J. Alfred Magdoon yesterday filed a demurrer to Sidney M. Ballou's plea in bar to the former's libel suit, saying it is bad in substance "for that the matters set forth in said plea in bar, as therein alleged, are not privileged." The suit arises from defendant's complaint against plaintiff in the Supreme Court, asking for investigation of his conduct on an attorney in the Kamalo Sugar Co. litigation.

HALEIWA.

The Haleiwa Hotel, Honolulu's famous country resort, on the line of the Oahu Railway, contains every modern improvement and affords its guests an opportunity to enjoy all amusements—golf, tennis, billiards, fresh and salt water bathing, shooting, fishing, riding and driving. To this committee Lane moved that Senate bills 29, 44 and 68 all referring to leprosy and now tabled be referred to this same committee. It was a tie vote, and Isenberg cast the deciding vote against Lane.

House bill 118, the usury law came up on second reading and in the discussion of the committee's report Dickey wanted to reduce the offense from a crime to a misdemeanor.

Dowsett defended his report, saying that the Hawaiians were notoriously weak in money matters, and should be protected. Usury was something that all nations had fought.

THE USURY LAW.

Dickey said he wanted to reduce the penalty to one year in order that usurers might be tried by District Magistrates, and he desired to get at the usurers quickly.

The Dickey motion to strike out "two years" and substitute "one year" passed, and a second Dickey motion to strike out the words "at hard labor" after the word imprisonment. The bill passed as amended and will be read for the third time on Monday.

Senate bill 90, the veterinary bill, was read for the second time and passed. It will be read for the third time on Monday.

FIRE ESCAPES.

Senate bill 87 to compel the construction of fire escapes, was read for the second time and passed by the committee. The bill provides that buildings more than two stories in height, whose floors are not fire proof, shall have fire escapes from the upper floors to the ground.

Bishop moved to amend by providing that all buildings in the business district be provided with fire escapes. This carried, and Lane seconded by Kahama moved to strike out the word "metal," thus making the fire escapes of wood or any other thing. This failed, and the bill passed second reading. It will be read for the third time on Monday.

TO COMPEL THE ENFORCEMENT OF LAW

DICKEY'S BILL TO COMPEL SHERIFFS AND OTHER POLICE OFFICERS TO DO THEIR DUTY.

The Judiciary Committee of the Senate this morning reported as follows upon Dickey's bill to compel the enforcement of the law.

"Your Judiciary Committee to which was referred Senate Bill No. 99 report that the bill is for the purpose of providing a penalty for failure on the part of police officers to do their duty."

"This is a matter of especial importance to the legislature. What is the use of our passing penal statutes if they are not enforced? There is no penalty in the present laws which prevent any police officer from winking at the infringement of any law. Nothing can be imagined more demoralizing to the efficiency of a police than allowing them at will or by orders of their superiors to ignore a penal law duly passed and on the statute books. If a law is obnoxious the surest way to get it repealed is by a stringent enforcement of it."

"By providing a penalty this gives the people a hold on the police which we believe will be decidedly salutary."

"We recommend the passage of the bill with the following amendment."

"Strike out the words 'upon a second conviction' in lines 9 and 10, Section 1." The report was laid on the table to be considered with the bill.
